Two Official Bulletins Giving the Doctors' Views of the Pope's Condition-Incidents of the Day.

ROME. July 11, 6:40 a. m.-The usual gathering of watchers, mostly journalists, witnessed from the piazza of St. Peter's the opening of the windows of the papel apartment this morning by the Pope's Two Witnesses in an Election Fraud faithful valet, Cintra. From what has transpired from the sick room it appears that no significant change has taken place in the condition of the patient up to the present hour. Dr. Lapponi succeeded in having Pope Leo take a sufficient quantity of nourishment during the night.

Another operation performed yesterday by it the possibility of his life's bring pro- judges and clerks who are under indictof recovery. News just received from the a restless condition, after having had a good sleep during the early hours of the operation, the Pope spent a quiet and almost painless day, with for his age, a normal temperature, and he only more strikingly exhibited his strength of constitution and intellect.

At the examination last evening the docserum in the pleural cavity, but it was feared that the presence of serum would be detected to-day, thus rendering necessary perhaps another operation soon.

SLEIT UNTIL 2 A. M. Shortly before midnight the condition of the Pontiff was reported to have undergone no change, and it was added that he that hour all within the palace was quiet, the Pontiff's apartment alone showing signs of life. The Pope slept until 2 o'clock this morning, when he woke up seemingly more refreshed, and asked for food. His pulse was taken and found to vary from 87 to 93. His temperature was 96.8 and his breathing | was changed from Canada to South Africa

The latter part of the night was not so good, owing to the restlessness and uneasiness of the patient. Dr. Lapponi has been going almost every fifteen minutes to look at the Pontiff, who did not notice the presence of the doctor, being in a drowsy state. Dr. Lapponi administered a dose of chloral and gave the patient at the same time an injection of camphor caffeine.

A general feeling of tranquillity marked the day in Rome yesterday. The self-confidence of the patient permeates the people, and especially the simpler folk, who go about their day's work, postponing signs of sorrow and mourning until from the sick bed itself they hear the unequal struggle is nearing its end. There is foretold, almost apathetically, a repetition during the next few days of that exceptional medical history of recoveries and relapses which have so astonished the world this week. "Within there," said a papal attendant, "the rooms are all ready for Oreglia, the cardinal deacon who will reign during the interregnum."

The same grim preparation is apparent on all sides. Count Pecci, a nephew of the dving Pope, wearing a straw hat and flannels, sat yesterday in the fire engine house. opposite the private entrance to the Vattean, chatting with the firemen. Carriage after carriage drove into the court. The French, German and other ambassadors descended to make inquiries. Prince Massino, looking almost as venerable as the simself, the head of one of the most ancient families in Rome, all the cardinals

A small crowd of men, women and childeep of all descriptions besieged the door where the news was to be given out. From the Castle of St. Angelo came the boom of the midday gun and then the palatin guard gave the signal for the anxious crowd to be imitted. Passing through the corridor each received a slip of white paper on which the morning bulletin was already printed. Intently reading these papers, the growd filed out through another door past the armed guard and into the quiet streets. During the remainder of the day but few of sought the Vatican. Then came night bulletin and far larger crowds then had gathered during the day wandered e Vatican in the cool of the evening. THE SECOND OPERATION.

Serum Again Drawn from the Pleural

Cavity-Official Bulletins. ROME, July 10 .- Two bulletins on the condition of the Pope were issued to-day. The first, signed by Doctors Lapponi, Mazzoni and Rossoni, was posted at 10:30 a. m. It

"The august patient passed the first part of the night fairly peacefully, but afterwards the difficulty in his breathing became more marked, coupled with discomfort and an increase of the feeling of oppression. The pulse is small and weak, at the rate of 92. Apyrxia was complete, and there was a little diursis. A flow of endopleuritic matter being observed, a second operation was decided upon and immediately performed by Dr. Mazzoni. About a thousand grammes of bloody serum was extracted. The Pontiff bore the second operation very well, and in consequence of it both the respiration and the power of the heart at once

At 9 p. m. the following bulletin was

-During the day his Holiness had hours of rest, without suffering. His pulse maintains its frequency and force. This morning, after the operation, his pulsation was 92 and his respiration 28 and his tempera-ture 35 centigrade. The kidneys continue functionally deficient. His general state is stationary.

VISIBLY IMPROVED. It will be seen from the bulletin that the Pope's marvelous vitality still permits him to maintain his struggle against death, although a portion of the night was passed in sleepless waiting. He greeted his doctors this morning with hopeful expression. It was decided to perform another operation, (CONTINUED ON PAGE 5, COL. 3.)

FOURTH ASSISTANT ADMITS THA HE WENT UP IN THE AIR.

Says He Was Laboring Under Excitement When He Cast Reflections on His Fellow-Assistants.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, July 10.-The postoffice investigation will come to an end the latter part of August. This, at least, is the expectation of those immediately in charge of the inquiry. There is a possibility, of course, that unexpected developments may occur which might tend to lengthen the investigation, but no such contingency is anticipated in official circles. The big sensations of the investigation have passed. No men more prominent than those already under indictment are involved in the scandal. The authority for this statement is one of the leading officials of the department, and he bases his conclusions on absolute knowledge of every phase of the investigation. The lines now being followed CINCINNATI, July 10 .- The Flint Glass by Fourth Assistant Bristow lead to small further arrests of officials other than a number in the free delivery division are expected in the department in Washington. The inquiry into the operation of the General Manifold Company, with which the name of Representative Sibley, of Pennsylvania, is connected is being continued, as well as an investigation of branches of the service remote from Washington. But the officials are strongly of opinion that the sensational phase of the scandal passed and that future developments will not create any great excitement or interest. The principal incident of the day in connection with the investigation was the presentation to the postmaster general of letter from the third assistant explaining the latter's explosive statements with reference to the alleged charges connecting his name with questionable transactions in the award of contracts to the General Manifold Company. It will be recalled that Third Assistant Madden wrote a letter in rose once from the water and then went to that he had anything to do with the con- given to saving the other two men of the tract granted the Pennsylvania corpora- party. The third assistant now explains that he was laboring under great excitement. He states that he had just arrived in Detroit-his home city. He had received the congratulation of citizens on the victories he had achieved in connection with his ruling relating to second-class matter. He was further congratulated on the fact that he had not been drawn into the postal scandal. Immediately following the Madden demonstration in Detroit came the report that the third assistant was embroiled in the scandal and that his office would be investigated. "Literally speaking," said a department official to-day, "Mr. Madden went up in the air. He has now returned to terra firma." It is reported that Mr. Madden has been verbally reprimanded by his su-

LONDON, July 10 .- Lord Mayor Samuel gave a luncheon at the Mansion House here to-day in honor of Rear Admiral Cotton and officers of the United States European squadron, now at anchor in Portsmouth harbor. After the toasts to King Edward and President Roosevelt had been received with enthusiasm the lord mayor proposed the health of Admiral Cotton, his officers and the entire American navy.

The King gave a public exhibition of his interest in the American officers by shaking hands with Rear Admiral Cotton and bowing to each of the American captains during his inspection of the Honorable Artillery Company.

Ambasador Choate gave a dinner to-night in honor of the American naval men, inviting them to meet a number of distinguished officials. The breakfast given to the Prince of Wales by Admiral Cotton will take place on the Kearsarge at 10 o'clock on the morning of July 13. His Royal Highness will subsequently inspect the warship. In conversation with American officers at the King's dinner at Buckingham Palace yesterday evening members of the Cabinet expressed a desire for an extension of the Monroe doctrine. Recognizing the para-mount influence of the United States in the western hemisphere, Great Britain, they said, wants Washington to exercise control in some way over the financial obligations of the Central and South American states. Apparently Great Britain, not desiring a repetition of the Venezuelan affair, favors the adoption of means whereby the smaller republics will be compelled to meet their obligations without pressure from Europe.

Staff Correspondence of the Journal. EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 10 .- Evansville is once more an orderly city. Since the departure of the troops there has been no display of the spirit so rampant in the early part of the week. Members of the local militia company, whose business takes them abroad among the people, are experiencing some embarrassment in the way of criticism and threats for the part the local company took in the riot of Monday night when seven people were killed and a

The people of the community do not take kindly to the many articles that have been published in which the recent rlots are charged to the laxity of the authorities in the enforcement of laws and that they are directly traceable to politicians currying favor with the negro element in the hope of securing their votes. CRITICISMS REFUTED. In reply to these attacks the Evening Journal-News to-day says:

"There is one feature of the miserable conditions that have prevailed in Evansville for the last few days that should not escape notice, and that is the criticism that has been heaped on the authorities by men who should have at least concerned themselves with the lawlessness at hand, and have attempted to correct evils that they speak of afterward if they are here. Not one of the critics of the legally constituted authorities offered his services to aid in dispelling mob rule so far as is known, yet some of the critics 'live by the law' and are sworn to uphold it in all of its majesty, "Some things are worth mentioning in this connection to indicate to the uninformed that Evansville is no mean city: "Who recalls a burglary worthy the name within the past few years?
"Who recalls a holdup on the streets of Evansville? The holdup man does not thrive in Evansville. "In what city in the United States do ladies walk the streets after sundown without es ort as they do in Evansville, and be "A city with a record like that is no mean

"It is also true that Evansville has its dark side. What city has not? It were not a city without it. Evil characters flock to cities; and if they did not there would be no need for the vast expenditure of money to maintain police departments. And it is remarkable to say that the causes leading up to the riet and bloodshed is found in the criticisms heaped on the authorities and the critics know this as well as all others. Men who busy themselves criticise ing authorities in perilous times are the ones who have fed the flame of anarchy. Some of them have busied themselves with this sort of sedition for two years. They have attempted to make it appear that the authorities are weak and Such a course pursued constantly has given license to those who have been led on by this pharisaical method. To them the major portion of the blame for the up rising of an element they have sought to lead in thought, and now hold up their

It is undestood that the grand jury will return between sixty and seventy indictments to-morrow morning. Some of them will be against persons involved in Monday night's rioting and battle, but most of The important feature of the forthcoming report is that several of the indictments will be against negroes who participated in the demonstrations made by negro bands against whites Sunday evening. The arrest of these negroes may precipitate some trou-ble, but no serious difficulty is apprehended. The city authorities believe they have the
